Dear Friend,

Hello, my name is Ethan Hunter. Believe me when I say I know firsthand how difficult it can be to find a complete DVD Copying program that actually works all of the time. Two years ago, right around the time my kids discovered that DVDs make great Frisbees, I decided to purchase a program that would allow me to “quickly, conveniently, and inexpensively” back up my DVD collection. Needless to say - I was excited to finally be able to preserve and protect my expensive movie and video collection.

Unfortunately, the first DVD Copy program I purchased didn't even work with my computer's operating system so I ended up not being able to copy even a single movie. The second program I picked up didn't produce much better results either. While it did allow me to copy some of my favorite DVDs, I still wasn't able get the audio and video tracks to synch up together on a large number of movies I copied.

Talk about frustration !!!

In a very short period of time I wasted over $100 and countless hours of my time with nothing to show for it. I was about to give up on the whole idea of copying my DVDs when I discovered EasyDVDx.

I was pleasantly surprised to find that, unlike the other two programs I purchased, EasyDVDx was very easy to install and worked like a charm right from the beginning. With a few mouse clicks I was able to quickly copy my DVDs with very little effort. Best of all, the EasyDVDx program was so simple to use that I was able to backup my entire DVD collection without wasting endless hours of trial and error. The fact is, I became so impressed with the results that I became a EasyDVDx reseller.

Don't go through the same costly trial and error that I did...

- Make Quick and Easy Copies -

The time required for copying DVDs will vary depending upon the speed of your computer and the level of detail in the DVD. Your computer will be processing many gigabytes of data and when you consider the amount of data involved, the time required for the process is actually quite minimal. Faster computers can typically decode a 2 hour movie in less than four hours. Slower computers will take longer. However, the process does not need your constant attention as you can begin the process before you go to bed or while you're at work. For the average computer, running a Pentium III 850 MHZ with 128MB of Ram, you can expect the entire process to take between 4-6 hours for an average two hour movie.

- You Can Even Copy Bonus Footage -

With EasyDVDx, if you store the DVD to your hard drive, you can retain complete bonus footage and menus. Use our software to copy special bonus footage from a DVD to separate CDs, such as movie trailers or interviews.
